

The City's General Plan

Planning is critical to assist a city in its evolution, as well as to protect the health, safety, and welfare of its residents. Recognizing this, the State of California requires each city to have a General Plan to guide its future and mandates through the Government Code that the plan be periodically updated to ensure relevance and utility. The City of San Diego adopted a comprehensive update to its General Plan on March 10th, 2008. The 2008 General Plan expresses a citywide long-range vision and provides a comprehensive policy framework for how the City should plan for projected growth and development, provide public services, address sustainability, and maintain the qualities that define San Diego over the next 20 to 30 years. Upon adoption of the 2008 General Plan the 1979 Progress Guide and General Plan and 2002 Strategic Framework Element were rescinded.

The 1979 Progress Guide and General Plan's basic goal was the "fostering of a physical environment in San Diego that will be most congenial to healthy human development." The plan established an encompassing framework of policies that addressed Citywide issues of growth management and development. In 2002, the City adopted the Strategic Framework Element of the General Plan, which set forth the City of Villages strategy and provided the framework for comprehensively updating the General Plan. The City of Villages strategy is to focus growth into mixed-use villages that are pedestrian-friendly districts of different scales, linked to the transit system. A "village" is a place where a mix of residential, commercial, employment and civic uses are present and integrated. The strategy draws upon the character and strengths of San Diego's natural environment, distinctive neighborhoods, commercial centers, institutions, and employment centers that together form the City as a whole.

The 2008 General Plan is comprised of an introductory Strategic Framework section and the following elements: Land Use and Community Planning; Mobility; Economic Prosperity; Public Facilities, Services and Safety; Urban Design; Recreation; Historic Preservation; Conservation; and Noise. The Housing Element update was adopted under separate cover in 2006. The City of Villages strategy was incorporated into the updated General Plan. The policies within each element of the General Plan were developed with the City of Villages strategy and ten guiding principles in mind. These principles are to achieve:

1. An open space network formed by parks, canyons, river valleys, habitats, beaches, and ocean;
2. Diverse residential communities formed by the open space network;
3. Compact and walkable mixed-use villages of different scales within communities;
4. Employment centers for a strong economy;
5. An integrated regional transportation network of walkways, bikeways, transit, roadways, and freeways that efficiently link communities and villages to each other and to employment centers;
6. High quality, affordable, and well-maintained public facilities to serve the City's population, workers, and visitors;
7. Historic districts and sites that respect our heritage;
8. Balanced communities that offer opportunities for all San Diegans and share citywide responsibilities;
9. A clean and sustainable environment; and,
10. A high aesthetic standard.

Capital Improvements Program Community Planning

The Public Facilities, Services and Safety Element of the General Plan includes policies on the prioritization and provision of public facilities and services, evaluation of new growth, guidelines for implementing a financing strategy, and guidelines for the provision of specific facilities. The Element discusses City challenges including a public facilities deficit, and calls for facilities deficiencies to be remedied through diverse funding resources.

A General Plan Action Plan is currently being drafted to identify specific measures needed to implement the General Plan. Key implementation tools include: community plan and facilities financing plan updates, zoning and Land Development Code amendments, redevelopment plans, Capital Improvements Program projects, development permits, and, resource conservation and management plans.

Community Plans

The City's community plans contain additional detailed planning guidance, and are a part of the Land Use Element of the General Plan. Community plans establish specific recommendations and objectives in a given community for future land uses and public improvements. The community plan provides a long range physical development guideline for elected officials and citizens engaged in community development. Citizen involvement has been a long-standing concept in the City of San Diego. In the 1960s and 1970s, the City Council adopted policies that established and recognized community planning groups as formal mechanisms for community input in the decision making processes. Community planning groups provide citizens with an opportunity for involvement in advising the City Council, the Planning Commission, and other decision makers on development projects, community plan amendments, rezoning projects, and public facilities. The recommendations of the planning groups are integral components of the planning process, and are highly regarded by the City Council and staff.

The general and community plans are policy documents, which require regulatory tools and programs to help implement their goals and standards. The implementation tools for planning documents include the Municipal Code, the Multiple Species Conservation Program (MSCP), zoning, Neighborhood Code Compliance, facilities financing plans, and redevelopment plans. These regulations and programs help guide land use, development, and design.

CIP Conformance to the City's General Plan and Community Plans

This year's capital improvement projects were reviewed for conformance with the 1979 Progress Guide and General Plan and 2002 Strategic Framework Element, as they were in progress prior to the 2008 General Plan being adopted. The vast majority of capital improvement projects are consistent with the relevant community plan(s) and public facilities financing plans. Most projects are also in conformance with the City's Progress Guide and General Plan (including the Strategic Framework Element). Those few projects that are not consistent with the relevant community plan(s) or the City's Progress Guide and General Plan will include a community plan amendment as part of the approval process.
